

The National Center for Biblical Parenting

The National Center for Biblical Parenting was birthed in the early 90's in the hearts of Dr. Scott Turansky and Joanne Miller, RN, BSN. Their families worked together in church ministry but it became clear that they had a powerful message that reached the hearts of families. Although they had no idea how big the ministry would develop, they knew that their heart-based, practical, biblical approach was strategic for helping Christian families reach their full potential.

PARENTING is the toughest job in the world!
Our job is to make it just a little easier!

The National Center for Biblical Parenting and BCM Canada presents:

“Parenting is Heart Work Seminar:
Cooperation, Consequences and Keeping Your Sanity!”

This seminar brings practical solutions to the real problems parents face today! Using the concept of “conscience development”, parents focus on 4 areas where children often have negative patterns:

Doing What’s Right

Parents can help their children learn to be internally motivated by moving away from anger, threats and bribes in working with their kids. Clear strategies are presented to help develop an action plan to move kids from where they are to where they need to be.

Dealing With Wrongs

Children need to learn to respond well to correction without blaming, excusing and manipulating with anger. Parents will learn correction strategies that give kids a better plan for responding to offenses that is good now and for the rest of their lives.

Being Honest

All kids need to value integrity or honesty. Some struggle more with this area of conscience than others, but when parents learn to work in conjunction with the conscience which is a God-given motivation inside of children, amazing things happen.

Caring About Others

The strategies presented here provide parents with practical tools to help kids move away from self-centered thinking to considering others and demonstrating compassion.
